

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Monday, December 13. to Thursday December 16. 1680.

Lisbon, Nov. 11.

THe Court is gone to Alcantara, and will remain there all this Month; the Queen, and the Infanta being very much delighted with the place. We are expecting here the Marquis de Drohero, who comes in the quality of Ambassador Extraordinary from the Duke of Savoy, to Demand the Infanta in Marriage, and to perform the Ceremony of the Espousals, in the name of the said Duke. On Wednesday last parted from hence an Envoye, whom our Prince sends to Turin; he Embarked on a Merchants Ship for Genova.

Warsaw, Nov. 27. The King and Queen of Poland are removed from Jawarow to Zalkiew, which is his Majesties Patrimonial Estate, with intention to remain there till the meeting of the Dyet, when the Court will return hither. We have advice from Fasse, the Capital of Walachia, that the Ottoman Forces are quartered along the Danube, and that their Head-quarter is at Budzwil, from whence it is concluded, that the said Troops are designed to take the Field very early the next year; and there are some Letters which assure us, that the Grand Signior, or at least the Grand Vizier, will be at the head of them, in order to the obliging the Moscovites to yield to those terms, which hitherto they have rejected, with a contempt of the threats which the Turks made use of to bring them to a compliance. Its believed this Crown has now wholly laid aside the thoughts of an Offensive War against the Turks, and that which will be desired of the approaching Dyet, will be to make such Provision, as that the Kingdom may be able to carry on a Defensive one, in case the Turks should have such a Design.

Stockholme, Nov. 27. On Saturday next the General Dyet of this Kingdom will separate: they have taken Resolutions in two great Points, the one concerning the re-union of the alienated Crown-Lands, (which the Nobility have been finally obliged to consent to) and the other, concerning the revision and Examination of what was done during the Kings Minority. On Tuesday next the Queen makes her publick Entry into this place, and the next day will be Crowned, which will be performed with great State and Solemnity. On Monday last Mr. Warwick, Envoye Extraordinary from His Majesty of Great Britain, was Conducted to his first Audience of the King. On Sunday next will be performed with great Pomp, the Funerals of Gustavus Wrangell, who was General of the Forces of this Kingdom; a Command so Great, that it has continued vacant ever since his death, which happened in the year 1675. Count Magnus de la Gardie is expected here, to take possession of the Office of Ryck-Drost, being in that quality, to set the Crown upon the Queens Head.

Madrid, Nov. 28. The Dutch Ambassador at this Court, has had several Conferences with the Duke de Medina Celi, concerning the differences arising between this Crown and the Elector of Brandenburg, for the Composing of which, the States have made offer of their Mediation, accompanying it with such Arguments, as might induce the King to lay aside the Resentment he has of what happened in the Road of Ostend, and to incline to such Overtures, as may tend to a composition, which is so necessary in the present conjuncture of Affairs; but hitherto the King has not accepted the Mediation of the said States, but demands to have first, the Ship taken by the Brandenburg Frigats restored. The 15th Instant being the Feast of St. Leopold, which Name the Emperor bears; the Grandees and the Nobility of both sexes appeared very rich in their Cloaths, and were all to Compliment the Queen-Mother, because of her near Relation to the Emperor. Two days since arrived here an Express from Milan, sent by the Count de Melgar, Governor of that Countrey, but we know not what he brought.

Berlin, Dec. 4. The marching off so many Troops towards Cleves, and the sending Lieutenant-General Spach, who is Governor for his Electoral Highness of that Countrey, thither, in so much haste, makes several people expect to hear of some action on that side; though others are of another opinion, and think that what our Elector does, is only by way of pre-caution, in case the Spaniards should attempt any thing upon those his Territories, in return of what the Brandenburg Frigats did in the Road of Ostend, which at the same time they cannot believe they will do, considering how Affairs now stand in Christendom, and the occasion that might thereby be given to those that are ready to make use of any that may serve for the promoting their great Designs. The Plague is very considerably abated at Leipsick.

Lintz, Dec. 5. We are expecting with some impatience, the confirmation of the news we have had here for some days past, of a Peace being concluded with the Hungarian Malecontents, which we have the more reason to believe, for that we were before informed from very good hands, that Count Tekely, and other Principal Men among the Hungarians, were endeavouring all they could to dispose them to a Submission to the Emperor, upon the Terms proposed, by letting them see the little Confidence they could have in the promises of Assistance, which the Grand Vizier had so often made them; and in case they were complied with, how dangerous those very Succors might be to the Liberties they were now Fighting for. What was said of the Duke of Lorraine's coming hither, proves a mistake; his Highness is at Vienna, where his Wife the Queen of Poland now Lyes In; but from thence he will return again to Inspuck. We have seen here, as they have done: